Identifying Special Educational Needs and Disabilities:

The definition of Special Educational Needs taken from the Special Educational Needs Code of Practice 0-25 year is:

- A child or young person has SEN if they have learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her.

It continues,

A child of compulsory school age or a young person has a learning difficulty or disability if he or she:

- Has a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others the same age or
- Has a disability that prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities or a kind generally provided for others of the same age in mainstream schools or mainstream post 16 institutions.

Section 6.25 – 6.32 of the Code of Practice identifies 4 broad categories of special educational needs:

- Communication and interaction
- Cognition and learning

Identification and Review:

Identification of pupils' needs will be achieved prior to entry to the school where possible, through liaison with partner primary schools and link special schools. Teacher assessment and test results are used to assist identification.

Identification will also take place by diagnostic testing, National Curriculum assessment and by the observations of teachers, parents and non-teaching staff. Pupils and parents will be able to nominate themselves/their child for screening and diagnostic assessment.

The SEN procedure will allow for the initial identification of SEN pupils in line with the code of practice. Where appropriate external agencies will also be involved in diagnostic testing.

Students needs will be reviewed via regular SEN meetings in line with SEN support in school and Educational, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) Stages of the Code of practice. At both stages, parental, pupil and staff views will be sought and individual education plans (ILPs) drawn up and reviewed at regular intervals. All staff will have a copy of an individual strategy sheet for each pupil. The teachers of pupils at both stages will refer to individual strategy sheets daily and implement them into their lessons to help pupils access the lesson. TA support will also use these strategy sheets and record achievement and pupils' progress in a monitoring book. All staff are responsible for the implementation of such plans in their curriculum areas. The aim is to have an inclusive not exclusive system as this is of most value in meeting the needs of pupils.

SEN information will also be held on a school SEN provision map, which will be updated by relevant staff on a regular basis.
